Then, you can find in the same email your download link:

Your Download Link

Please note: By clicking on the download link below, the download process starts. Depending on your browser the download procedure may appear in different ways. However, do not interrupt the download. Depending on your internet connection the download may take up to an hour or even more. If the link does not work, please copy & paste the link in your browser window.

 ARIS DVD 10.X for Windows Operating Systems:
ARIS.10.0_DVD \(8.0 GB\)

When downloaded, right click on the .zip file, then choose "Extract All..." > Extract

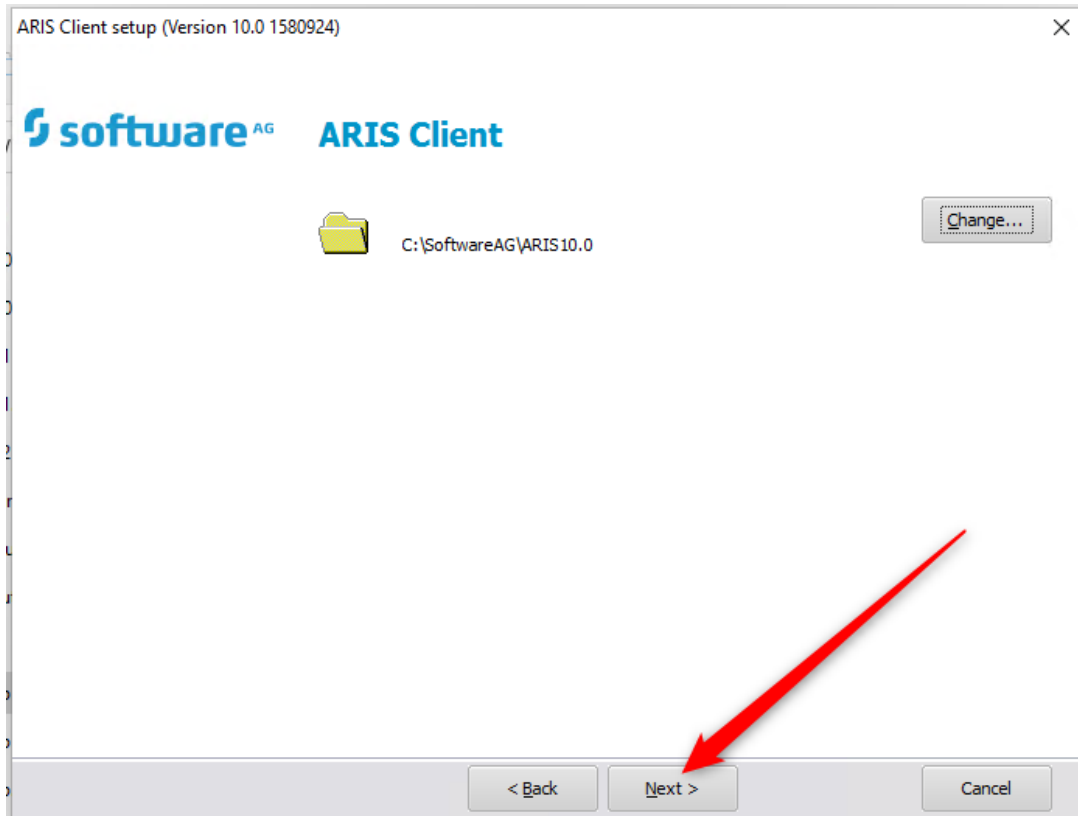

It will take a few minutes due to the size of the file.

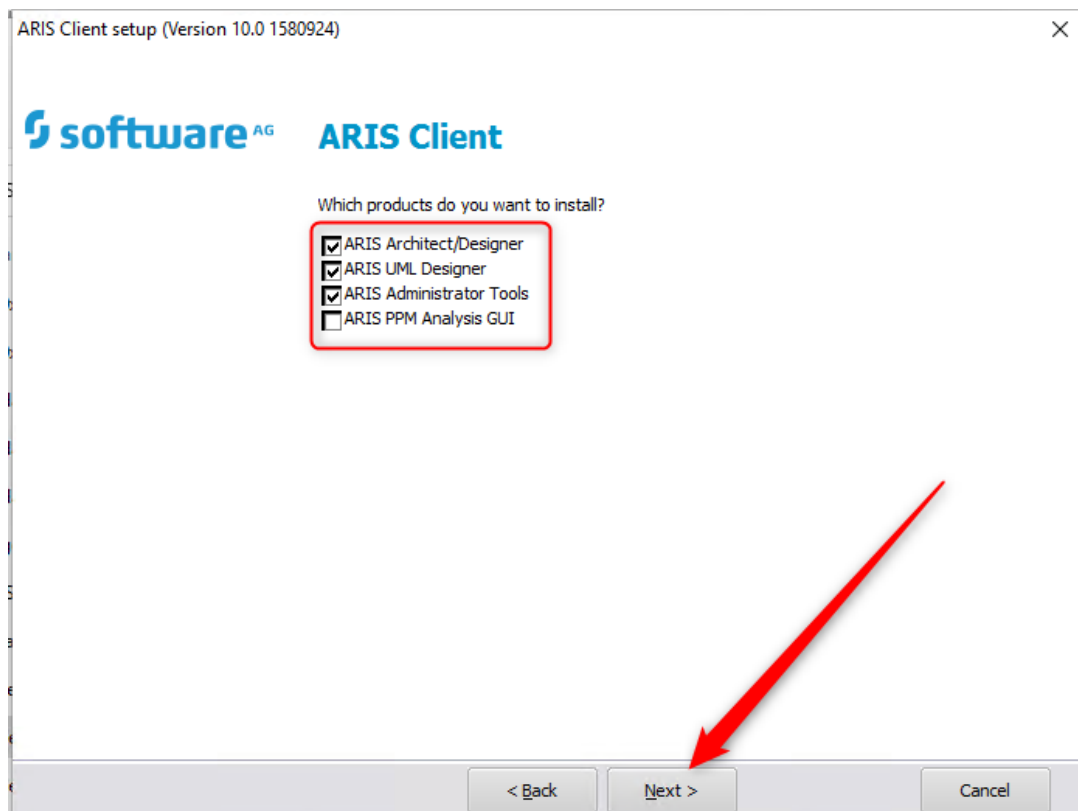

In the folder "ARIS_DVD-10.0.15.2.1580924\Setups\Windows\ARIS_Client", execute the file "setup".

Then, follow the following steps.

Select what you need (That should be enough)

ARIS with local standard database system

Using this installation option you may:
- create databases on your computer and edit them without being connected to a network.
- connect to ARIS Servers in a network and create and edit databases there.

ARIS without local standard database system

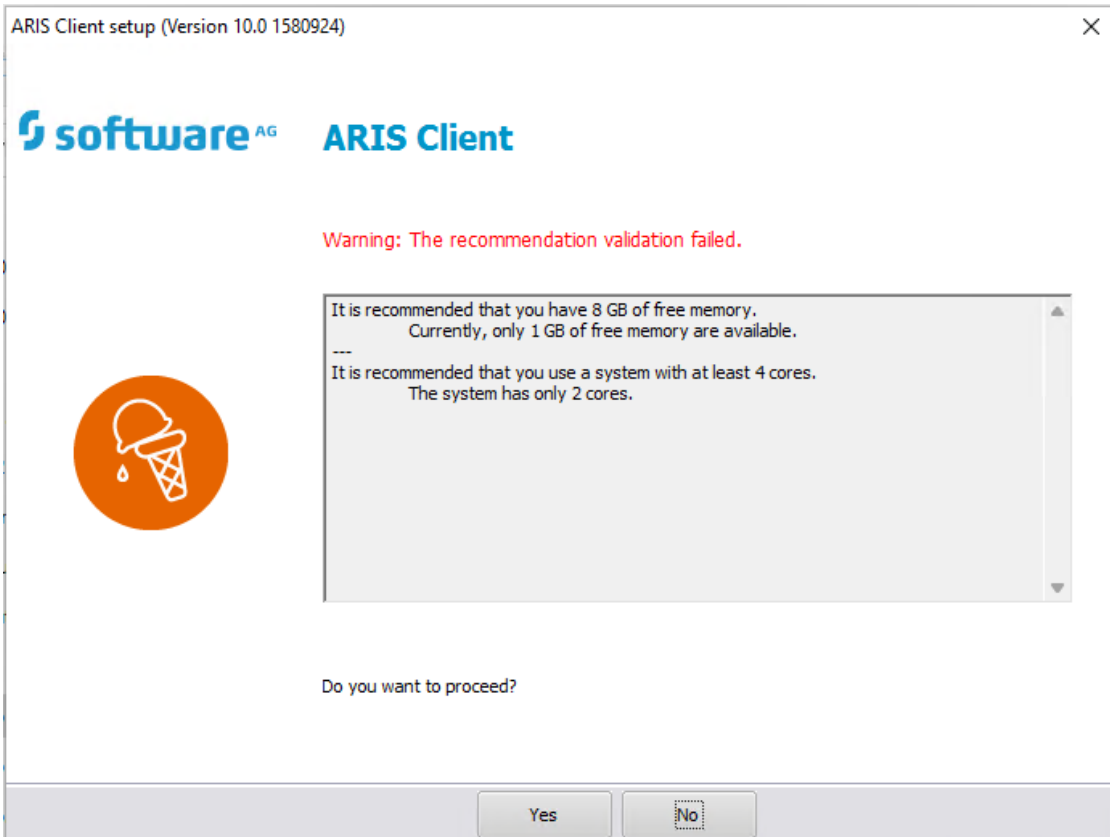

Using this installation option you can connect to ARIS Servers in a network, as well as create and edit databases there.
If you also want to work without a network connection, please select 'ARIS with local standard database system'.

If your computer doesn't meet the requirement, it will show this message. Nevertheless, you can bypass it by clicking "yes" to install the software.

It will ask you the license file. Click "Import license", then find the first .zip file you downloaded, called "AEP single for students", and click "open".

Finally, click on "Install".
